

How to Money

Many if not most, of the people are interested in what I am just going to call "how to money". You can insert whatever verb you want (assuming its not 'repel') into this phrase, but the point is we are all looking for ways to make money on the internet. Therefore, I am going to summarize what I have learned in my time pursuing this "how to money" question as it relates to the making money on the internet:

How To Money Tip #1: Figure out what you have to offer, what you are good or knowledgeable about and focus on that. Are you good at writing, analyzing, programming, photography, etc.?

How To Money Tip #2: Freelancing: Go to sites such as elance.com and post your skills there so that potential customers can have a look at what you have to offer.

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/My Online Income System>

How To Money Tip #3: Writing: there are many sites you can get paid to write or get your articles in the search engines in order to drive traffic to your site. Ehow.com is a good one if you don't have a website. You can write articles and get paid annually depending on how popular they are. Softwarejudge.com pays you to write reviews of software products (if you understand the field). Pickydomains.com lets you suggest domain names for others who are, well, picky about their domain names. You won't get rich from these, but you can make some decent income if you are persistent.

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/Mass article writer>

How To Money Tip #4: Question and Answers sites: you can make a good amount of money answering folks questions on the internet. You must be careful not to spam though. The most well-known of these sites is Yahoo Answers. Another is Justanswer.com

How To Money Tip #5: Build your own website or blog. Your main goal is then to include links to products for which you are an affiliate. Choose good legitimate products, they'll be around longer, give you more sales, and it's better for you psychologically. The key is to drive traffic to your site which you can do by using some of the other tips here.

How To Money Tip #6: Build a blog and continue to add to it. The search engines love content and the more you add and the more targeted it is the better. Again, think about what niche you have to offer. At Orble.com you can take ownership of an abandoned blog.

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/Blogging to the bank>

How To Money Tip #7: The best places for affiliates and ads are (1) Google AdSense (2) ClickBank.com (3) AssociatePrograms.com and (4) Commission Junction

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/ultimate traffic>

How To Money Tip #8: Photography: at istockphoto.com you can upload photos and videos and everytimes someone uses it you get a commission.

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/Camera dollars>

How To Money Tip #9: Take Surveys: you can take surveys and get paid but proceed with caution there.

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/Make Money Taking Surveys>

How To Money Tip #10: Online Teaching: you'd be surprised at the number of places online where you can teach or tutor others about your specialty. Tutor.com is a good site for this.

How To Money Tip #11: Online Office Assistant: you can sign up for temp jobs as an office assistant dealing with emails, bookkeeping, data entry, etc. One place to do this is TeamDoubleClick.com

How To Money Tip#12: At Moola.com, you start off with a penny and can increase by playing games and being involved in various activity. Moola makes money through their advertising

How To Money Tip #13: Mylot.com pays for content (they even promise you that you'll get paid everytime you come to their site)

<http://tradeitonebay.com/recommends/Mass article writer>

How To Money Tip #14: Review Music: that's right, you can get paid to listen to music and write a review for it. The only site I know of for this is slicethepie.com

How To Money Tip #15: Online Dictation: If you are quick at typing you can dictate at Speak-Write.com

That's all for now, if more come to mind I'll add them.